

Lead your flock, love your software

Communication and member management software have been user un-friendly for a long time. It's no good having lots of features if your leaders don't use them.

Flocknote stands alone in its ability to help you utilize that data in the most meaningful ways to help engage and foster discipleship in your community. We won't just store your data; we will continue to partner with you to make sure you can use that data to build vibrant communities and utilize the gifts of your people.
